STYLE & WINEMAKING

It's the side of Pinot Noir that steps forward: energetic, generous and precise, made to be shared rather than studied. Extrovert is a blend of grapes from multiple vineyards, each lot chosen for its outgoing, extroverted character. We ferment them in small lots, then layer them for bright fruit, texture and lift, and give the wine extended time in French oak and in bottle before release.

VINTAGE NOTES

A mid-April cold snap, with lows near 26°F, hit the northern Willamette Valley just after budbreak. A cold, wet spring held off flowering until late June, but a hot July and August brought McMinnville back to its 30-year heat average by August. A warm, dry October let the fruit hang until rain arrived October 22, and secondary buds brought yields close to normal.
